

PROSPERITY

It is Breaking at Last in Victoria, Along With the Dawn of a Big Business Boom Across the Continent

Victoria starts out this week with a recrudescence of optimism and confidence in the immediate future of the city and district.

This renewal of vigor in the stable old city has been touched off by developments of the last week, coming as the culmination of a slow but certain turning movement, which has been making itself evident, spasmodically, it is true, but none the less convincingly, for some time.

Last week saw the news of the awarding of the contract for the construction of the long-awaited Amusement Centre on the block behind the Empress Hotel. No time will be lost in pushing this work through. The architect and contractors are on the ground already and workmen are now clearing the site.

As an immediate benefit to business in the city, it may be pointed out that around sixty per cent. of the construction cost will be represented in the form of money for wages put directly in circulation here.

The owners of one of the hotels which comes in the group of the first three in Victoria, makes the statement that in the summer time they could handle four times as much business if they had the accommodation. They base this estimate on the number of visitors who have applied for rooms but whom they have had to pass up because the hotel was full. The winter, however, is the slack season.

If the Amusement Centre will work as planned to bring and hold here a few more of the thousands of visitors who annually come from the colder climates in the east and spend three or four months sauntering along the cities of the Coast, the owners of this hotel will double the capacity of their building.

They evidently think that the Amusement Centre, along with other developments, will warrant this extension as they have already arranged for the land, next to their hotel, necessary for doubling its size, and have already got the assurances that the money for this construction will be available the minute they give the word to go ahead.

Last week the Canadian Western Co-operative Co. finally decided to locate here and will erect a plant on the Songhees industrial reserve to employ from 100 to 125 men, with the likelihood of its extension to employ 250 within three years.

That is a big thing in itself.

As for fundamental business conditions across the continent, which, of course, guide the general trend of business, the telegraph wires to-day carry the following statement which appears this morning in "The New York Herald-Tribune" under the name of Mark Sullivan, the political and financial authority:

"Persons who have checked up all conditions entering into the situation say that practically every one points towards great activity of business and great volume, SO GREAT AS TO BE PROBABLY UNPRECEDENTED IN OUR HISTORY."

Supporting Mr. Sullivan's prediction, wholesale prices yesterday showed an advance of three points in the weekly index of commodity prices, stock market quotations are forecasting and discounting greatly increased business activity and money is so plentiful that it is being offered day after day in New York on the call market at 2 per cent. This accumulation of cheap money will soon find its way out into industry, and investment, causing a species of business boom.

Lumber is one of the first products of this Province to be affected by a spurt in business in other parts of the continent.

Accordingly, it is important to

AIRMEN LOST IN FOG

Lost in the fog while flying from Seattle to Anacortes yesterday evening, Edward and David Mooney, Seattle aviators, made a safe landing in Victoria Harbor and gave up the attempt. They spent the night at the Dominion Hotel, and took off again this morning in better weather. The noise of their machine circling over the city yesterday evening caused many to wonder who was flying in such weather. A heavy bank of fog obscured the Straits and put the airmen twenty miles off their course, luckily without mishap.

The American Federation of Labor is holding its annual convention in El Paso, Texas, and Mr. Gompers, its veteran president, is in the chair.

GREAT SLAVE LAKE CREW IS MISSING

Believed Vessel is Ashore and Seven Men Walking to Fort Resolution

Edmonton, Nov. 11.—Word received in Edmonton from Fort Resolution that at last reports the auxiliary schooner Speed, of the Northern Trading Company, with seven aboard, was still missing, being some twenty days overdue on her trip across Great Slave Lake and back. Just prior to freezing, which took place some time ago, stormy weather was experienced on the lake and it is thought the vessel was driven ashore at some distant point on the lake which would necessitate a trip of possibly some hundreds of miles by foot to Fort Resolution.

Officials of the Northern Trading Company here state the craft was well provisioned and equipped and well prepared to withstand a period in the bush.

MALAHAT DANGEROUS DAVIE SAYS; POINTS TO RECENT ACCIDENT

The "dangerous" condition of the Malahat Highway was brought to the attention of the Government yesterday by C. F. Davie, Conservative, Cowichan-Newcastle, who pointed to the recent motor accident in which James Rennie was killed. There are many bad points on the highway which require repairing, Mr. Davie declared. Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, explained that the Government had debated whether it should construct a new road or spend large sums of money on the present one. He promised, however, to instruct an engineer to examine the road immediately.

MUNICIPAL MEN HERE TO EXPLAIN REFORM PROPOSALS

Hospital Association and Municipal Union Seek Agreement on Indigents

Union Executive Head to Meet Cabinet and Outline School Programme

The Executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities has arrived on its annual pilgrimage to Victoria in the interests of municipal legislation.

Reeve A. Lockley, of Esquimalt, presided at an executive meeting this morning when a deputation from the B.C. Hospital Association, headed by J. J. Banfield of Vancouver, asked for an understanding with the Union on the matter of financial responsibility for indigent patients.

A special committee on the school situation laid its report before the Union, the gist of which is a demand for the Provincial Government to take over entire control and financial responsibility for schools or in the alternative make further financial grants to the municipalities for school purposes. Tabulations of figures showing how the burden of education cost has been retarding advancement in the school system and in other municipal activities have been prepared by the special committee.

The Union Executive is to meet the Cabinet on the school question tomorrow and on Thursday will lay its whole programme of suggested legislative amendments before the municipal committee of the Legislature, headed by H. G. Perry, Fort George.

Lower Wage Scale

Sydney, N.S., Nov. 18.—That the British Empire Steel Corporation had intimidated the executive of District 25 of the United Mine Workers of America at a recent conference that the company would look for a reduction of the present wage rate in a new agreement was the statement made by President MacLeod in presenting his report to the special conference of the district. It is felt by union officials no reduction would be countenanced.

WINTER STORMS ALONG EASTERN COAST OF U.S.

Deaths of Men Caused and Reports Tell of Several Vessels in Distress

Search Made For Sloop Which Left Brooklyn With Seven Men Aboard

Boston, Nov. 18.—A wintry blast with a high wind and a temperature dropping nearly to zero in parts of New England has brought death to two men, distress to ships along the coast from Maine to Cape Cod, and delay to trains.

Three barges bound for Rockland, Maine, were adrift to-day. Captain Albert B. Peterson of Brooklyn, N.Y., died in the freezing water when made fast to a line shot to his barge from the coastguard cutter Ossipee.

One ship was reported ashore and two schooners off Cape Cod were riding the heavy seas with the sails in tatters and their anchors out.

There was one death in Boston from exposure.

SEARCH FOR SLOOP

New York, Nov. 18.—Police of the marine division to-day were scouring the seas nearby for the Frolic, a thirty-four-foot sloop which sailed from Brooklyn Sunday with seven men aboard. The men expected to return before dark, and it is feared they perished in one of the heavy gales that have been sweeping the Atlantic coast.

Thirty-six hours of patrolling has failed to reveal a trace of the sloop.

COLD KILLED THREE

Wind and cold yesterday wrought havoc with shipping, and caused death and suffering among the city's poor. Three persons died of cold and exposure.

AUTOS PREVENTING BOLSHEVISM IN U.S.

London, Nov. 18.—Wide and indeed almost universal use of the motor car has proved for the United States the antidote for Bolshevism, was the impression brought back from his United States visit by Lord Ashfield, chairman of the London Underground Railways.

"The motor car," he said in a newspaper interview, "has afforded the working people in the cities an opportunity of reaching the country and spending their leisure hours away from the ordinary surroundings of the city, and it gives them something to look forward to when their day's work is finished, and goes a long way toward preventing discontent and unrest."

ACCUSED IS FREED

At the close of the hearing before Judge McIntosh in County Court yesterday Wallace L. MacNaughton was acquitted. The accused had been charged with seduction arising out of complaints laid several months ago. Stuart Henderson appeared for the accused, and M. B. Jackson, K.C., for the Crown.

IS CANDIDATE FOR ALDERMAN; W. H. CULLIN

W. H. Cullin is in Field; M. W. Graham is Doubtful

W. H. Cullin, formerly King's Printer, has accepted the solicitations of a large number of friends, and will be a candidate for alderman.

Mr. Cullin was from 1911 to 1924, when he retired, associated with the management of the Government printer, and before that time was one of the best known men in that occupation in Victoria, having a very large circle of friends, who will welcome the announcement.

As was already forecasted, Alderman Sangster will again stand for alderman, making two of the five retiring aldermen to offer himself again.

Alderman Andros is a major-city candidate, and the other members of the council, Aldermen Woodward and Ker, who are due to retire in December, are not expected to be candidates again.

An effort has been made to bring out Mark W. Graham, well known Victoria citizen and business man, but it is very doubtful if Mr. Graham will stand, as his private interests make it difficult for him to give the time, and such opportunity as he has is already fully taken up with various offices which he holds.

WOMAN'S DEATH IN OHIO INVESTIGATED

Body Found in Furnace; Pastor of Church is Questioned By Police

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 18.—Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, for nine years pastor of Christ Lutheran Church of Hickory, a suburb of Columbus, was being questioned by police to-day in connection with the finding of the charred ashes of his wife's body in the furnace of their Bexley home late yesterday.

The investigation into the mysterious cremation of the pastor's fifty-one-year-old wife is being conducted by County Prosecutor John R. King and police, who last midnight discounted Coroner Murphy's suicide verdict. The coroner's verdict, contended that the woman had crawled into the furnace and closed the door behind her. Because the furnace was filled with flame, Prosecutor King declared it would have been impossible for the woman to have turned to close the furnace door after crawling into the fire.

WAS VERY NERVOUS

Sheatsley last night explained that his wife had been extremely nervous for some time and that she was alone in the home yesterday afternoon. He had postponed a hunting trip because of his wife's condition, he said, but went into town about 1 p.m. The woman's body was found at 4:55 p.m. when the minister returned. He was attracted to the furnace, he said, by the odor of burning flesh.

EMPIRE PARLIAMENT PLAN IS DISCUSSED

Glasgow, Nov. 18 (Canadian Press Cable).—A national convention for the furtherance of home rule for Scotland was held here yesterday with seven members of the British House of Commons in attendance. T. Henderson, Labor member of Parliament for the Tradeston Division of Glasgow, outlined the scheme for an Empire Parliament of all the British nationalities and Dominions, in which Scotland would be included. Meanwhile Scotland would manage her own affairs in her own territory.

MEXICAN BANDIT'S LOOTED TRAIN, BUT SMASH PREVENTED

Mexico City, Nov. 18.—Bandits under Vidal Tenorio stopped a freight train on the Vera Cruz-Isthmus railway, sacked the cars and afterward sent the locomotive against an approaching passenger train, according to dispatches. A crash was avoided when the engineer drove back the passenger train while the remainder of the crew successfully derailed the locomotive.

CALIFORNIA PROHIBITION MOVES LEAD TO CANADIAN REQUEST FOR INFORMATION

Ottawa Government Wishes to Know All Facts Connected With Arrest of F. R. Anderson, Barrister of Vancouver; Desires to be Assured Prohibition Enforcement Officers Did Not Overstep the Mark.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—While as yet no representations have been made to the United States Government in regard to Fred A. Anderson, prominent Vancouver lawyer arrested in San Francisco on a charge of liquor smuggling, it is practically certain action will be taken to-day. The case will probably come before Cabinet when it meets this afternoon and representations which have been made to the Department of Justice on behalf of Anderson will be discussed.

It is probable the Government will request Washington to investigate the arrest and ascertain if it was justified, or if those responsible for enforcing the United States prohibition law in San Francisco overstepped the mark.

Information received here from friends of Anderson is to the effect that a charge was trumped up against him by those responsible for his arrest because they felt they must do something to safeguard themselves. It is alleged his arrest was made without a warrant or charge being laid, that it was made at one o'clock in the morning and that he was roughly treated. The claim is made that he was given no opportunity to arrange bail, being sent to jail without seeing a solicitor. He was finally released on $10,000 bail.

WENT AS COUNSEL

San Francisco, Nov. 18.—It is claimed F. R. Anderson, a prominent lawyer of Vancouver, B.C., on bail here on a charge growing out of the seizure of the Canadian steamer Quadra and her cargo of liquor, came here as legal counsel for the owners of the Quadra.

The Federal grand jury, however, indicted him on a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

District Attorney Carr made statement yesterday which drew immediately fire from McNab, counsel for Anderson.

"The motion made on behalf of the defendant, Anderson, in the Quadra case on last Saturday was but another attempt on the part of himself and his attorneys to ascertain the evidence of the Government," said Carr. "Such attempts have been made in various forms since the seizure of the Quadra and are made not alone in an attempt to benefit them in the present trial in this country, but to assist them in strategizing out certain lines of defence in their own country."

NOT WORRIED

"As far as the defendant Anderson is concerned, he is a confessed smuggler and violator of the laws of this country. In addition, it is he who put up the security with the bail bondsmen who furnished the bonds for the release of the Quadra crew. The arrest of Anderson was proper, and the Government is not bothered over the situation."

"It is unnecessary to the Government whether Anderson is the greatest lawyer in the country or the lowest individual in San Francisco. Both will have the same fair and impartial trial and it will be for the trial jury to determine whether the evidence presented by the Government is sufficient. The Government will try its case openly. It will not resort to newspaper propaganda or historical appeals to Bar Associations."

CHANGE IN CHOICE OF DELEGATES URGED

Manitoba Wishes Federal and Provincial Labor Representatives at Geneva

Ottawa, Nov. 18 (Canadian Press).—"Hon. R. W. Craig, Attorney General of Manitoba, and I had a friendly conference recently in which we discussed the suggestion that a permanent Dominion official should be appointed at Geneva in the interests of labor, and in which he advanced Manitoba's attitude that all the Provincial Governments should have the right to choose or designate a delegate for each conference according to their own provincial statutes," stated Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, this morning.

"I understand from a press dispatch that recommendations in the matter are being forwarded here, but so far they have not been received, though I have no doubt they are on their way."

ONLY ADVISERS NOW

Under the present system provincial delegates have the status of advisers only to the Federal appointees. Manitoba's contention is that in future the Government of Canada should make an appointment only to each conference, and that the provinces should have the power to appoint a second nominee between them.

One danger in this respect, however, is that Canada might at some time find herself in the position of the Federal and Provincial attitude might conflict, and the two delegates entitled to vote oppose one another by their ballots.

ROOT AND FODDER CROPS OF CANADA WORTH $278,063,000

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—The total value of Canada's root and fodder crops, including potatoes, for this year is estimated by the Bureau of Statistics at $278,063,000, as against $278,552,900 last year. The total area of root and fodder crops was 11,775,393 acres, as against 11,555,692 acres in 1923.

Would Endorse Horse Racing Bill Before Legislature

That the City Council should be asked to pass a resolution in favor of the Horse Racing Regulation Bill now before the Legislature was the statement made to The Times last evening by Alderman Marchant.

He had prepared a resolution for which no opportunity occurred last evening, endorsing the principle of the measure, which among other matters would cut down the duration of the racing at Colwood and the Wilketto to six days meetings.

He stated that he hoped to have an opportunity to present the motion at the City Council meeting this afternoon.

TWIGG IS UNABLE TO SWERVE CANADIAN LEGION FROM STAND ON IAN MACKENZIE RESOLUTION

Conservative Member and Former Commander of Victoria Post Withdraws Resolution Calling for Rescinding Motion in Face of Opposition During Three-hour Debate.

After three hours' debate in which the full batteries of the eloquence of four Conservative members of the Provincial Legislature were brought to bear on sixty members of the Victoria Post of the Canadian Legion last night, failed to induce the meeting to respond to the urgent plea of the former Post Commander and rescind the resolution passed last week endorsing Ian Mackenzie's resolution on the order paper of the Provincial House.

MAY RESIGN

During the discussion one member who frantically sought to pour oil on the troubled waters although after a lengthy speech he admitted he had no concrete proposition stated that Comrade Twigg had told him a situation had been created where he might be forced either to resign his seat in the house or from the Canadian Legion.

The meeting was called on a petition headed by the four Victoria Conservative members. Major Gus Lyons, M.P.P., a former vice-commander of the Legion, Colonel Cy Peck, M.P.P., and Joshua Hinchliffe, M.P.P. were all present supporting their colleague.

THE STOM CENTRE

The resolution around which the storm centered was one endorsing the action of Ian Mackenzie and Major Burde in placing a resolution on the order paper demanding the House of Commons take such steps as necessary to curtail the powers of the Senate in the matter of interfering with returned soldiers' legislation as passed by the House of Commons, and in calling for the resolution to be rescinded the former commander of the post had a difficult time explaining how he could do so in face of previous expressions of the Senate during the time he was on the Legion's presidential chair.

"POLITICS"

His outstanding charge that it was of a political character and the Legion should take no part in politics. In his opening remarks he moved a resolution claiming that no proper notice of motion was given that it was proposed to endorse the Mackenzie resolution; that the Mackenzie resolution would retard rather than accelerate the removal of injustices from the administration of the Pension Act and ending "resolved the resolution passed on November 5 be revoked and the Members place themselves on record in reiteration of their basic policy that it is not in the best interest of returned men that this post should take part in party politics or enter into a discussion or resolve upon matters of a partisan character."

A COMPROMISE

Outside of Capt. H. W. F. Moore and his fellow Conservative members Comrade Twigg was not able to raise a voice in support of his resolution and the Post Commander, Colonel F. A. Robertson discovered a popular way out when he suggested the whole matter stand over for Wednesday week when the compromise resolution on which the ex-soldier members of the House are working will be discussed. In face of the objection shown to rescinding the resolution of November 5 shown by the Legion members Comrade Twigg agreed to withdraw his motion.

Charges that the returned men were being used as a political football flew freely and Comrade Twigg was reminded by several speakers that the resolution of the Vancouver Member was along the lines of the opinions advanced at many of the Legion meetings.

AGAINST DICTATION

"What will be the attitude of the people if we go back on our resolution now?" asked H. A. Bowden, a member of the executive. "They will say the Canadian Legion is a Conservative organization dictated to by Members who are on the Conservative side."

Colonel Robertson reviewed the voice from the rear of the room. The court was then informed by Scroggie that Alderman Gabais was the president of the Lumpkins Club. Mr. Plant—Now you see the reason for my objection. "I wanted to know the name, and I am glad to know it," concluded Mr. Justice Codrre.

After reprimanding Mr. Plant for attempting to hide the name of the club's president, the commissioner took occasion to announce the Lumpkins Club saying: "As far as I can see, this club is like many others. Its shareholders do not meet, there is little or nothing to show that it is really being operated as a club. It is a fair example of most of the clubs in Montreal. It is a typical example with an alderman at the head of it."

RAMEK IS FORMING CABINET IN AUSTRIA

Vienna, Nov. 18.—Dr. Rudolph Ramek of Salzburg, an attorney and former Austrian Minister of the Interior, to-day accepted the post of Chancellor of the Austrian Government, replacing Dr. Ignaz Seipel who announced yesterday he had not decided to attempt the formation of a new Cabinet.

when his remarks became rather prolonged.

FITS IN EXACTLY

Kerry R. Macnicol, vice-commander of the Post declined to treat the matter as seriously as the politicians. "Cast yourself back to the time when under Comrade Twigg we abused the Senate. The resolution we endorsed appears to fit in exactly with the discussion at those meetings. Colonel Peck's resolution is I think just as political as the Ian Mackenzie resolution. I just don't know why the anxiety of the Conservative Members across the Bay to whitewash the Senate. Is it because the majority in the Senate is Conservative. It is not such a political resolution. In the long run we must have a Liberal majority in the Senate and it will affect them in the same way it affects the Conservatives. Don't take too seriously all you have heard. It is purely a political matter. Ian Mackenzie got one ahead and if I were in his place I would not concede a point on curtailing the powers of the Senate. What guarantee have we next session that the Senate will have returned soldier legislation?"

"ANARCHISTS DOWN"

H. A. Bowden said nobody could accuse the Legion of taking political action. They had all shades of opinion from anarchy to the powers of the Senate. He thought the endorsement was just and proper. He saw no reason to change it. It would leave a nasty flavor.

THE REBUND

H. W. Hart brought in a resolution endorsing the Mackenzie motion and also the Peck motion calling for reformation of the Pension Board and other departments dealing with ex-servicemen's problems. It was not however put to the meeting. He showed Comrade Twigg with complacency as a returned men's champion and leader of the organization and then threw the verbal harpoon by declaring that in the matter of criticizing the Senate he could not blame them for following the teachings of such an efficient teacher. The action the Legion took last Wednesday was due to his teachings on the iniquity of the Senate. "He made us feel the Senate was a thing to get rid of." The quoted a resolution passed at a meeting July 4 and drafted by Mr. Twigg scoring the Senate for its attitude on soldier legislation.

"No politics have been interjected until to-night. They have been interjected to-night by Members now in politics. A short verbal tilt arose between the Speaker and Mr. Twigg on the close knowledge of the Canadian Legion's affairs which Ian Mackenzie appeared to possess."

A BROADAXE

Colonel Peck came out with a declaration of loyalty to the cause of the returned men above all other considerations, and he never used veterans' organizations to mount the political ladder. He hoped to frame a resolution that would not hurt the House. He met both sides of the House. He said the Legion had passed. Let it stand over. He coined a phrase on the Senate which was the meeting when he said he would reform it with a broadaxe. The colonel was given a good reception by the meeting.

Joshua Hinchliffe proceeded to complain of the lack of support given him a year ago, when he had matters concerning returned soldiers before the Legislature. When the secretary, H. P. Thorpe, said resolutions of support were sent to him. He thought some master mind was throwing a bone of contention among them to fight over. He warned them not to antagonize the Senate and said he did not feel bound to support the Mackenzie resolution.

Comrade Bowden—We never asked any Conservative member to support the resolution. Concluding the debate the president said there had been no politics introduced, inadvertently or otherwise, endorsing the Mackenzie resolution. They had not gone outside their constitution in doing so. They must discuss political matters but in doing so they were not taking part in partisan politics.

TWO LOST LIVES IN BIG HOTEL FIRE

Deathlist in Blaze in Atlantic City May Be Found to Total Five

About Twenty Persons Injured; Loss $1,500,000; Cause Unknown

Atlantic City, N.J., Nov. 18.—With a known toll of two dead and four missing, a fire which destroyed the Hotel Bothwell and its annex, formerly the Senator, last night and for a time threatened many fine residences at this coast resort, was burning itself out to-day. It was believed that all further danger of the flames spreading had been averted. Nothing but part of the walls of the hotel remained and the famous casino on the steel pier was practically wrecked. The loss is estimated at $1,500,000, of which seventy per cent, is covered by insurance.

AGED MAN DIED

James Bennett, eighty, of New York, died shortly after midnight as a result of injuries; an unidentified woman is known to have perished, and it is stated at least three more guests of the hotel may have lost their lives.

Police Sergeant James A. McMenamin has not been seen since ten o'clock when he attempted to rescue guests, and it is feared he was killed. About a score of persons, most of them firemen, were injured, during the fire. The cause of the fire is still undetermined.

great paving scheme which initiated hard surfaced highways in Saanich, the East Road alone served that part of the municipality north of the Municipal Hall.

In the years following the conclusion of the Great War the West Road was extended piecemeal by yearly appropriations from revenue, sometimes only a few hundred yards of work being done in one year, this method of constructing the highway carrying the hard surface to the crest of Black Hill and thence to Goward's Corner, slightly beyond the junction with the road up Saanich Hill to the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory.

The cost of this work is difficult to segregate, as one municipal official puts it: "When we had a bucket of asphalt to spare we dumped it where it would do the most good, at the end of the West Road surface. In 1923 Saanich invested $27,000 in the construction of a further 1.9 miles, the increase in wages paid being offset by the use of ingenious road surfacing machinery devised by Superintendent Girling and his son. In 1924 the latest addition of 2.1 miles was completed, bringing the hard surfacing to the junction with the Keating Cross Road. This work cost $22,000, the men being paid a further ten per cent. increase in wages above that effective in 1923; the asphalt price was also up ten per cent compared with the previous year.

The work on the last two miles also necessitated heavy rock work, much in excess of that required on the 1923 programme, and the Saanich authorities consider that $13,000

EIGHT CANDIDATES DEFINITELY OUT FOR ALDERMEN

Since the announcement that Alderman Andros would be a candidate for the Mayoralty, a renewed effort has been made to shake Alderman Harvey's decision. However it may be safely stated that he will adhere to his decision to offer himself for the same position again.

Owing to the developments of the last few days, the opportunity for younger business men to enter the Council has extended, and renewed endeavors are being made to strengthen the panel from men active in the various clubs. At the present time there are six candidates for aldermen, two for trustees and three for the one seat as police commissioner.

Several efforts have been made to induce Archie Willis to be a candidate for alderman. Mr. Willis has been asked to run on two previous occasions, and his name was on the original list prepared by a number of the younger men to invite as candidates. He then declined, but has again been pressed to stand. Mr. Willis is well known as Sporting Editor of the Times, and a native son of Victoria, active in Gyro and other circles. He is giving the invitation his consideration.

Sixty-five years ago Rev. Arthur Browning came to the Pacific Coast via the Panama, and in 1860 a small Methodist Church was erected on Commercial Street. Later another building was erected on Front Street which served the needs of the congregation until 1889, when the present building was erected at the corner of Wallace and Front Streets, during the pastorate of Rev. Next Sunday will therefore mark another historical event in the life of the church. The pastors of the church since its inception have been as follows: 1855—Arthur Browning; 1860—Ebenezer Robson; 1863—Edward White; 1864—Ephraim Evans; 1871—Thomas Derrick; 1874—Joseph Hall; 1875—Cornelius Bryant; 1878—Joseph Hall; 1881—Cornelius Bryant; 1887—Ebenezer Robson; 1887—Joseph Hall; 1890—W. LABOR CONVENTION AT EL PASO, TEXAS

About 3,000,000 Workers Represented at Meeting of American Federation

Indications Leaders Will Declare Determinedly Against Wage Reductions

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 18.—The forty-fourth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor is in progress here. Some 400 delegates, spokesmen for approximately 3,000,000 workers affiliated with 107 craft organizations, with the task of shaping Labor's programme in industry, politics and civic enterprise for the coming year. Debate in the three departmental conferences last week forecast a general convention keynote of a determined stand against wage reductions.

REVIEW OF YEAR
The report of the executive council, summarizing the work of the federation since the Portland, Ore., convention of October, 1923, the annual address of President Samuel Gompers and the address of welcome by Executive Secretary George H. Slater, of the Texas State Federation of Labor, made up the programme yesterday.

COUNCIL'S REPORT
In the report of the executive council it was declared that industry must solve its own problems or face the alternative of state intrusion. State intrusion, it added, "must inevitably lead to bureaucracy and breakdown." "Industry must find its own way through the difficulties with which it is beset," said the report. "There is no magic wand with which barriers may be waved aside. There is no outside agency, governmental or otherwise, which may be called in as physician to cut away the entanglements. Democracy cannot come to industry through the state."

Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation, and ten other members of the committee signed the report, which dealt with activities spreading over the geographical field of the continent, including Canada, Mexico and the Panama Canal Zone, as well as the United States, and with objectives in political and social spheres as well as in industry.

"We must point out," it continued, "and we wish to emphasize the point beyond mistake—the road to democracy in industry is not a road that labor can travel alone. Democracy in industry implies and involves the participation of every useful element in industry."

USE OF INJUNCTIONS
In defining the status of the judicial use of injunctions in labor controversies, with which the federation has long concerned itself, the executive committee reviewed proceedings during the year which raised the issue. It considered the advisability of constitutional amendment in the United States, as well as Federal legislation to support the position labor organizations have taken in challenging the use of such power.

LABOR BANKS
As a result of recent labor union policy, the report proceeded, there are now twenty-three banks in existence which are owned by their members, with resources "estimated at $60,000,000." Their work was praised, but a warning as to extension and increase was coupled up with the resume.

"Labor in this new field has not passed the complete period of experimentation," the report said. "Upon those in whose care the continued successful administration of these banking ventures depends, there rests a great and grave responsibility, to maintain the integrity of labor's ability and competence."

Handling other people's money is a sacred and public obligation."

LIFE INSURANCE
Proposals for a general labor-life insurance company have been put before the federation, and the executive committee presented without comment the findings of a special investigation made into the subject by its own members.

"We have been convinced and fully persuaded that it is not only advisable and safe, but almost essential for labor to adopt some form of proper insurance," the investigating committee declared. "However, we are opposed to having the American Federation of Labor as such actually engage in the insurance business."

CONSERVATIVES MET IN CITY OF TORONTO

Federal Liberal-Conservative Association Was Formed by Delegates Yesterday

Toronto, Nov. 18.—The National Liberal-Conservative Association of Canada was formed yesterday at a conference of representatives from Conservative organizations in all of the nine provinces of the Dominion but New Brunswick, assembled here at the invitation of the Ontario Conservatives.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen was elected honorary president and was endorsed as leader of the party. J. L. McNicol of Toronto was elected president; J. A. Lamarr of Montreal, secretary, and Hon. Robert Rogers of Winnipeg, treasurer. The last named tried to decline the nomination, but the gathering drowned out his protest with cries of "Good old Bob," and no other name having been advanced for the post Mr. McNicol, as chairman, refused to permit Mr. Rogers to decline.

Eighteen vice-presidents, comprising one woman and one man from each province, were appointed. The vice-presidents for British Columbia are Mrs. R. F. Green, Victoria, and R. L. Maitland, K.C., Vancouver.

The provincial organizations will be asked to nominate members of the executive, which will co-operate with the Dominion committee for organizing purposes.

OBJECT OF MEETING
In calling the meeting to order, the chairman, J. L. McNicol, gave a brief outline of the movement, which had resulted in the convention being called.

Each province had approved the proposal for such a convention and had sent delegates vested with authority to speak for the various provincial organizations in the Dominion, which were to decide whether a national association of the Liberal-Conservative Party should be formed or whether a national committee should first be named to proceed more leisurely with the work of organization.

Hon. L. G. Bessley, Quebec, delivering the keynote address, declared that no matter what decision the convention arrived at, the main object was organization.

Mr. Meighen, Federal Conservative leader, addressed the gathering.

REPRESENTATIVE FROM B.C.
R. L. Maitland, K.C., representing B. H. Pooley, leader of the Conservative Party in British Columbia, said his province felt very keenly the necessity for higher tariffs in Canada. The present Government's policy of reduced tariffs was inimical to the interests of British Columbia. The results of the United States election illustrated the hopelessness of looking for reduced tariff barriers to the United States. The much talked of imaginary line between Canada and the United States might be only an imaginary line to Premier King, but it was a wall of China to Coolidge.

George Cruise of Saskatchewan said things did not seem very bright just now for the Conservative Party in his province, but the steady increase of trade between Eastern and Western Canada was a healthy sign.

THE BUDGET

PRESENTING A BUDGET

To any Legislature and through it to the country is not the most pleasant or simplest task these days. This Dominion is compelled to finance in the face of large and unavoidable debts imposed by the war and the pressing demand for heavy expenditures called for by expanding development. But in the presentation of his statement to the local House yesterday afternoon Dr. MacLean must have experienced a sense of satisfaction from the fact that he had been able to budget for a surplus for the first time in the last ten years and promise a substantial cut in expenditure for the next fiscal year.

The Minister of Finance expects a surplus of revenue over expenditure of $156,902.72 and a saving in the cost of government of $142,477. He hopes to bring this desirable condition about without in any way impairing the public services or avoiding such outlays as are necessary to enhance the earning capacity in all productive departments of the Government. He does not find himself in a position to reduce taxation at the present time; he knows quite well that he could increase his popularity and the popularity of the Government by announcing a lighter burden of taxation. It is equally clear to him that there is no royal road to affluence, that the paying of bills which are due is the shortest cut to a prosperous condition; but British Columbia shares the cost of the war and the war's effects, directly and indirectly, and can not escape the reckoning.

Dr. MacLean assured the Legislature that the peak had been reached and that future budgets would be able to take account of the wise financing of the last few and present years. He showed that municipalities received grants from the Province amounting to 22½ per cent of the total provincial revenue, or $304,314.33 more than was collected within municipal boundaries. Would any municipality be prepared to suggest that each be allowed to plough in his own furrow? The Minister also alluded to a fact which is too often forgotten, that less than $8,000,000 of the revenue of the Province is a direct charge upon the taxpayer. The balance, no less a sum than $11,698,144.63, is derived from the disposal of natural resources and the recognized sources of government trading.

These are facts which should be considered when the taxpayer studies the provincial balance sheet. He should range them alongside of the wealth of the Province as shown by a surplus of assets of $25,935,110 over liabilities and the opportunities which are being continually presented to him to assist in provincial development, directly or indirectly, opportunities to contribute to that wealth by faithful support to every progressive cause. This is the spirit in which British Columbians should set about their own business. The Province is their affair and Dr. MacLean's budget should prove to them that it is a going concern in an excellent financial condition.

CANDIDATES FOR MAYOR

THE MORNING PAPER thinks there are too many candidates for Mayor in the field and that this condition is likely to result in somebody being elected by a minority vote which would be unsatisfactory. But that prospect always is opened by the competition of more than two candidates. It invariably is present in the election of aldermen, some of whom every year poll minority votes when compared with the total votes of defeated candidates. This carries no particular significance. Some of our best aldermen have been elected on minority votes. A minority vote in a contest for the mayoralty might give us an admirable chief magistrate. The danger in a multitude of candidates for one office lies in the possibility of some mountebank with a peculiar support of his own sympathy is due a community which gives enough votes to elect such an individual even in a field of half a dozen aspirants. As the law stands, however, there is nothing to prevent anybody who possesses the necessary statutory qualifications running for any municipal office, and it would be unwise to try to limit the contest by legislative enactment. Besides, we ought to welcome the public spirit which prompts citizens to offer themselves as candidates. Other cities have met this aspect of their annual municipal elections by adopting proportional representation. Then a minority candidate could not possibly be elected. But our own experience with one form of this system was not very satisfactory.

STRIKING A SNAG

MEMBERS OF THE local post of the Canadian Legion and ex-Commandant Despard Twigg are not in agreement in respect of the motion which Captain Mackenzie has introduced in the Legislature with respect to the powers of the Canadian Senate. At a special meeting last night the third member for Victoria sought to persuade the comrades over whose deliberations he had presided during the days when every veterans' organization was intent upon pressing for better treatment for returned men, to rescind their approval of the Mackenzie motion because he and his colleagues of the Conservative Party claimed there was too much political flavor in it. The members of the Legion did not take kindly to the admonition of their former commandant; he was reminded that when he had pleaded their cause he had alluded to the Senate as an "iniquitous body," that the local post's action could not have been different unless it had willfully turned its back upon the "teaching and example" shown by its former leader. Thus it came about that the legionnaires did not feel inclined to adopt the amendment which Mr. Twigg suggested but was persuaded not to press. They were unable to understand why his point of view as their leader should be different from his point of view as one of the members of the Legislature.

WISE FINANCING

PEOPLE WHO ARE APT to get alarmed at the size of the provincial debt as expanded by the Conservatives to suit their own political arguments should note well how this Province is preparing to meet the net obligation in the only practical manner known to sound financing. They should study the amount which British Columbia has already put into a sinking fund to retire these heavy charges and then compare it with what other older and more thickly populated provinces in the Dominion have been able to do along this line. The sinking fund of the eight provinces outside of British Columbia now amounts to $20,793,964, and the combined debt of those eight provinces totals $589,000,000. The net debt of this Province amounts to $41,622,402 and the amount which has already been set aside as a sinking fund to liquidate this obligation now amounts to $19,882,730.89. In other words British Columbia owns forty-nine per cent of the total sinking funds of the whole of the provinces of the Dominion, or a per capita of $13.49 greater than all the other provinces combined. This is obviously one of the reasons why the financial houses of Canada and the United States have given British Columbia better terms for her bonds than any other Province.

Dominion figures show that 771,932 persons were on Canadian payrolls in October as compared with 765,422 in August. Hardly like a bankrupt country!

DR. FRANK CRANE

"Wireless and World Peace"

SIR OLIVER LODGE, at Wellington the other day, hailed wireless as an important factor in coming world peace.

He said it would be a weapon of peace because it would promote a better understanding. This rests upon the fact that the reason why nations make war upon one another is because they do not understand each other.

The more familiar the people of one nation are with another, the less desire they have to go out and fight with that other nation. Sir Oliver Lodge says that, as the ether welded the world together in a cosmic system of law and order, so will the radio weld humanity together so that it can face its common foes in a spirit of co-operation and mutual trust. Humanity has enough fighting to do with the opposition of Nature and with the many forces that contend against its life upon the planet. There is no need for one group of men to set out to fight another group.

He found that all the progress in the world has been made not by war, but in spite of war. Real progress is by co-operation. All the inventions that have united humanity and increased transportation and communication have been agents for unity and peace. It remains for the politicians to discover some means by which the political units or nations can live together in peace, that is, in a way in which they can co-operate against the forces of Nature and help each other instead of hindering each other.

There is no doubt that radio contains great possibilities for world unity. It is one of the methods of communication by which the various means of isolation are combated. The commonwealth of nations, often called the British Empire, are peacefully disposed, he says, and they, with their cousins across the Atlantic, constituting the same race, speaking the same language, are now welded together by this new means of communication. If they set their faces to the right and are determined to preserve peace in the world, they will succeed.

The Anglo-Saxons, represented by the English and the Americans, are the most considerable forces in the world both in intelligence and enterprise. Whatever welds them together will be welcome and whatever alienates them must be deplorable.

The ambitions and vanities of nations must give way before the common interest of all and the radio will be a considerable aid in that direction.

WORDS OF WISE MEN

Sloth makes all things difficult, but industry makes all easy.

He that rises late must trot all day, and scarce overtakes his business at night.

A man who gives his children habits of industry provides for them better than by giving them a fortune.

All things are in fate, yet all things are not decreed by fate. A present good may reasonably be parted with upon a probable expectation of a future good which is more excellent.

Education begets the gentleman, but reading, good company and reflection must finish him.

He who sows courtesy reaps friendship, and he who plants kindness gathers love.

He that does good to another man does also good to himself, not only in the consequence, but in the very act of doing it, for the contemplation of well-doing is an ample reward.

A man's own good breeding is the best security against other people's ill manners.

An attribute so precious that it becomes a virtue is a gentle and constant equity of temper.

When the purpose we aim at does not ensue upon our first endeavors, the mind redoubles her efforts, under an apprehension of a stronger exertion may succeed where a weaker did not.

How is it possible to avoid jealousy, whom we are certain always to find with serenity on his brow and a smile on his countenance?

WHO'S WHO IN HISTORY TO-DAY

CARDINAL POLE

(Reginald) English Roman Catholic prelate, died on November 13, 1558. After being created Cardinal he quarreled with Henry VIII, who set a price upon his head. Upon the accession of Queen Mary, he returned to England to assist her. He wished to marry the Queen, who for a time favored the project, but it was finally abandoned. He was largely responsible for the persecution of Protestants during Mary's reign.

PIERRE BAYLE

French skeptical philosopher and critic, was born on November 12, 1647. His service as professor of philosophy at Sedan was followed by appointment to the same chair at the Protestant Academy of Rotterdam, from which he was removed on account of his skeptical opinions. He is chiefly known as the compiler of the famous "Historical and Critical Dictionary."

CHESTER A. ARTHUR

Twenty-first President of the United States, died on November 18, 1886. Following his graduation from Union College, he taught school, later he practiced law. He was collector of the port of New York. Elected Vice-President, he succeeded President James A. Garfield upon the latter's death from wounds inflicted by an assassin. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination to succeed himself.

REGRET MR. PATT'S RETIREMENT

To the Editor:—We sincerely regret Mr. Patt's retirement from Christ Church Cathedral. Ever faithfully serving his Beloved Mother, he never sought financial or other advancement. At all times his hospitals and jail, saying a cheery word and giving practical help where needed.

Mr. Patt, may you long be spared to dwell among us and carry on your good work among the sick and unfortunate, who so sorely need you. F. W. L. TIMERS.

THE OLIVE BRANCH

To the Editor:—The voting so far by Protestants has gone overwhelmingly in favor of union, why not withdraw all opposition and make the great union movement what it ought to be, the congregations "can serve no good purpose, besides it is not a desirable occupation to be engaged in. There is also the danger of the congregation ministers finding themselves without congregations in the process. All this can and should be avoided.

D. FRASER, Secretary Union Committee, St. Paul's Church, Victoria West, November 15, 1924.

CHURCH UNION BILL

To the Editor:—The letter which follows has just been received by me from the honorary president of the "St. Andrew's Presbyterian Association of Ottawa," and as the letter very graphically pictures the almost unanimous anti-union feeling in Eastern Ontario, I feel sure its hopeful spirit will carry a message of encouragement to the supporters of the petition now being considered by the Legislature.

The fight is on in real earnest. I have been at meetings in and outside the city. A week or so ago a number of us motored to Carleton, about forty miles West, situated on the Mississippi River. The meeting was held in the town hall, and was attended by delegates from the surrounding towns and villages. Judge Scott of Perth, Rev. Mr. Millan and Rev. Dr. Morrow, both of Ottawa, Rev. Mr. Glasford our Synod representative from Toronto, Rev. Mr. Horne of Renfrew were on the platform. We liked Mr. Horne so much we asked him to come and address our Anti-Union League at Ottawa.

Last Sunday a number of us motored out to Metcalfe. A crowded and most enthusiastic meeting was held in the town hall. The speakers were the Rev. Mr. McMillan from Ottawa and Mrs. Owen Toller, who is a daughter of the late Senator Bryson of Calonge, Quebec. Mrs. Toller, whose great responsibility she speaks well; she spoke from the women's point of view.

"At the close of the addresses, the minister at Metcalfe, who is a unionist, asked why Mr. McMillan had not denied at a Synod meeting at Vancouver Hill that scurrilous remarks had been made by the Canadian meeting. Mr. McMillan replied that a neutral man there had done so, but that answer did not satisfy, and another unionist butted in. I cannot remember what he said, but the meeting was beginning to break up. I got hot and cold, and then up on my feet I said: 'Gentlemen, I was at that meeting with friends from Ottawa, and such words were never used.'

"Quietness at once settled on the meeting, and we were able to close with a hymn and prayer."

"Last week we had a very successful meeting at Merrivale. The minister favors union, but allowed us to meet in his church, and was present at the meeting."

"Yesterday afternoon and evening two large and enthusiastic meetings were held in the Chateau Laurier. The speakers were Rev. Dr. Banks Nelson of Hamilton, Rev. Dr. Stuart Parker of Toronto, Rev. Hugh Munroe of Cornwall, Rev. Dr. R. W. Dickie and Rev. Malcolm Cameron, both of Montreal, and also F. H. Chrysler, K.C., the most eminent railway legal counselor in the Dominion, whose great responsibilities would not allow him to accept elevation to the bench."

"It was contended by Mr. Chrysler and other speakers that the union would be a detriment to the real feelings of the Presbyterian people, that strong arm methods and intimidation had been used to force the church Parliament, that only 99 out of 235 members of the House of Commons had been present when it received its final sanction, finally that an overwhelming vote of the Private Bills Committee had expressed the opinion that the Act was contrary to the inherent justice and freedom of the Canadian people. Mr. Chrysler maintained in a searching analysis of the Union Bill that it was contrary to the basic principles of Confederation for Parliament to interfere with the operation of church law."

This morning in St. Andrew's, the Rev. Mr. Kilpatrick read out in a pleasant manner the notices which I enclose.

The following are the notices referred to in my correspondent's letter: "Mr. Kilpatrick announced that a vote on church union would be taken at St. Andrew's Church, Ottawa, on or after December 22. It could not be held until after December 12, and since two Sabbath notices of the vote had to be given, the vote could not be taken until December 22. He would suggest later, he said, that it be further postponed until after Christmas."

"Early in November, he said, a meeting of the church union would be held at which the method of voting would be decided. Under the Church Union Bill two methods could be used. A meeting could be held at which the vote would be taken, and the meeting then adjourned from two weeks to a month later, so that those not able to vote at one meeting could vote at the other. The other method of voting would be to have polls open at the church every day for two weeks.

"He also announced that at an early date a meeting would be held at which the pros and cons of union would be thrown open to debate by church members."

Mr. Kilpatrick deprecated the charge that 150 Methodists had joined St. Andrew's during the past year to insure a union vote in St. Andrew's.

Woman Murdered In Detroit House

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Anna Lee Bowers, twenty-seven, was found strangled to death in her apartment on Selden Avenue yesterday. Police are holding Lee Hawkins, thirty, on suspicion, although they express the belief he could not have harmed the woman, for he had a broken arm and shoulder and carried his arm in a cast.

Hawkins told the police he and Mrs. Bowers came here from Alabama about a month ago. He said he left Mrs. Bowers at 7 o'clock Sunday evening and returned after midnight to find her body on the bed.

DISCUSSES PLANS FOR HEBRIDEANS

Rev. E. L. Macdonnell Takes Up British Columbia Questions With Ottawa

Houses For Newcomers in Fishing District One of Chief Problems

Winnipeg, Nov. 18.—On his way to Ottawa to take up with the Federal Government the whole question of the introduction of Hebridean fishermen in British Columbia to take the place of Japanese, Rev. Father E. L. Macdonnell, foster father of the recent Hebridean immigrants, passed through Winnipeg to-day.

"I was very surprised to read the most unfair criticism of my scheme by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands of British Columbia," he said. "I absolutely refuse to bring out these families and make them live in tents. Since I have been bringing out the Hebrideans, many births have taken place, and four sets of twins have been born. I wonder if Mr. Pattullo's speech has brought matters to a head, and I shall decide what to do after I have seen the Dominion authorities."

Sidelights on a Great Industry

NO REDUCTION OF RATE IS SOUGHT

IT MUST be very clearly pointed out that the British Columbia lumber industry, is seeking, not a reduction of the present royalty rates on timber, but a revision of the legislation on which those rates are based.

The lumbermen of the Province freely recognize the right of the Government to collect royalty as the outcome of the people's equity in the forest resources of British Columbia. The industry endorses the principle of royalty and the collection upon a basis that is fair, both to the public and to the holders of standing timber.

All branches of the lumber industry are, however, united in their appeal for an alteration of the illogical foundation upon which the present rate is based by the Timber Royalties Act which is now upon our Statute books.

The lumbermen justly claim that the stability of their industry, so vital to the welfare of the Province, cannot be maintained under the pressure of a measure that is itself unstable and unworkable.

The present Royalties Act which should be essentially a tax on raw material actually taxes all the elements entering into the cost of manufacturing the finished product, including labor, equipment and appropriations for market extension and meeting world competition.

As stated above, the lumbermen do not object to the present royalty rate, it is the future workings of the present unworkable Act that they regard with alarm.

CASE ENDS IN DAMAGE ACTION

Donegan Sues City For $20,000, Following Milk Prosecution

That legal proceedings against the city arising out of the James Donegan trouble and threatened for some time had been translated into action by the filing of a writ, was reported to the City Council last night by City Solicitor Pringle. The city solicitor was instructed to defend the action. The plaintiff claims from the city the sum of $20,000 and an injunction to restrain the corporation through its servants from trespass and illegal taking of analyses of milk. The statement alludes to the act of the defendants in bringing the plaintiff before the magistrate last year and having him convicted of selling "dirty milk," maliciously and without reasonable or probable cause." The writ went on to state: "There is no charge in law entitling the defendant to lay such information or the magistrate to convict on such information."

The statement of claim goes on to assert that the defendant corporation has published statements false to the plaintiff over the signature of the medical health officer, and it alleges trespass upon the property of the plaintiff by the medical health officer and by Alderman E. S. Woodward.

The statement of damages is made up of $6,120 special damages, $12,000 general damages for loss of business, and $1,880 for damages for trespass.

J. A. Alkman appears for the plaintiff. The statement of damages is made up of $6,120 special damages, $12,000 general damages for loss of business, and $1,880 for damages for trespass.

De Beauvoir-Brook Probably Will be New First Sea Lord

London, Nov. 18.—Admiral Earl Beatty will resign his post as First Sea Lord of the Admiralty at the end of the year, according to some of the newspapers. It is recalled that rumors of his resignation were current about a year ago, when it was suggested he would retire as a result of dissatisfaction with certain government schemes. There is no suggestion of the kind on this occasion, nor apparently any special significance in the resignation, as Lord Beatty's term of office has already nominally expired. Naval circles expect his successor will be Vice-Admiral Sir Charles de Beauvoir-Brook, commander of the Mediterranean station since 1922.

MAKE PROGRESS ON LEGISLATION

House Advances New Bills And Transacts Much Routine Business

For an hour yesterday afternoon, following the budget speech, the Legislature got down to business and considered new legislation.

Attorney-General Manson got several of his Bills into the committee stage with little controversy.

The Bill to amend the Legal Professions Act was given second reading after he explained that the Law Society had been fit to increase its fees but was unable to do so only to some ambiguity in the statutes. This ambiguity would be removed through the amendments proposed.

The debate on the second reading of the Landlord and Tenant Act was adjourned by H. D. Twigg.

The Plans Cancellation Act secured its second reading. The Attorney-General explained that at present the law did not permit of the cancellation of subdivision plans even where inside boundaries had been obliterated through the ownership by one person of all lots in a block. The matter will be threshed out further in committee, several points being raised by Opposition legal members.

Amendments to the Wills Act are likely to cause some discussion in committee, although the Bill was given second reading. They deal with the cancellation of wills by marriage. The Attorney-General explaining that he desires to have the Provincial law conform with that of other provinces and of England.

Premier Oliver moved the adjournment of the debate on Joshua Finch-liffe's Bill to amend the Elections Act so that by-elections must be held within six months after a seat in the Legislature is vacated through the death of resignation of a Member. The Victoria Member declared such a step was only fair to the electors, who had a right to have their representative in the House.

The Bill introduced by R. H. Neale, Labor, South Vancouver, to fix the boundary between Richmond and South Vancouver, was given second reading.

MANUFACTURERS HEAR AUSTRALIAN

Hon. R. B. Orchard Will Speak at Luncheon Meeting Tomorrow

Members of the Victoria and Island branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and members of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will jointly attend a luncheon meeting at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium tomorrow afternoon to hear the Hon. R. B. Orchard speak on inter-empire trade and its effect on the future building up of the Commonwealth of the British Nations.

Mr. Orchard is chairman of the trade committee appointed by the Australian Government to investigate reciprocal trade relations within the Empire, and is also a member of the Australian commission which was in charge of the Commonwealth exhibit at the British Empire exhibition.

He was in England during the recent general election there, and in addition to his views on the exhibition and its effect on imperial relations, may also have some interesting first-hand information to give to members in regard to conditions in England.

During the war, Mr. Orchard was named by the Prime Minister of Australia in charge of recruiting and was ex-officio a member of the Australian Cabinet. Mr. Orchard is an Imperialist, and from reports we have of addresses delivered by him to gatherings of members of the association in Eastern Canada, members will be well repaid for attending next Wednesday's luncheon.

of members attended and several matters of importance were dealt with, including some important correspondence from the Dominion Secretary at Ottawa. The secretary was instructed to write the Tranquille Branch in order to ascertain their views regarding the proposed formation of a T.V.A. branch in the city of Vancouver. The fact that the soldier members of Provincial Parliament now in session are preparing recommendations in support of suitable pension legislation met with the approval of the meeting, and in that connection the following resolution was passed:

"Resolved, that this Victoria Branch heartily endorse the action of the British Columbia Legislature in urging the Dominion Parliament to enact ex-soldier legislation in accordance with the recommendations of the Ralston Royal Commission."

"Further, that we also heartily endorse any action that the B.C. Legislature might recommend regarding the powers of the Senate on ex-service legislation and the reorganization of ex-service departments."

A letter was received from the Dominion secretary to the effect that sub-charters were now available to all branches in good standing, and the meeting decided to obtain one as early as possible.

Members are advised that meetings of the T.V.A. will in future be held on the first Monday of each month instead of semi-monthly, and will commence at 8 p.m.

OWNERS MOVE TO RELEASE SHIP HELD ON DAMAGE CLAIM

The release of the Ss. Prince Albert on bond was forecast yesterday by interests close to the owners of the vessel. Representatives of the law firm of Maitland, Vancouver, solicitors for the defendant company, were in the city on Saturday making arrangements in this connection.

The vessel was seized some two weeks ago by the marshal in connection with a claim for damages by the Commercial Cable Company.

The vessel was held by the marshal of the Admiralty Court pending the lodging of a bond or settlement of the claim. The bond is now about to be furnished, it is understood here, and will release the Prince Albert. The furnaces for the craft arrived over the week-end on the Loch Goll from the United Kingdom. "Nerves in Bad State Could Not Sleep"

Mrs. H. N. Tardell, Harrowsmith, Ont., writes:

"My nerves were in a very bad state, and for nearly six months I did not know what it was to have a good night's rest. I could not eat, and never felt well. I heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and thought I would try it. After taking it for a few days I began to feel better, and soon was able to sleep well at night. My appetite also returned, and I felt stronger and better, and after taking three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was quite well. I have also given the Nerve Food to my little girl, with good results."

RACE IN HIS LATEST
FILM FULL OF ACTION

The big race scene in Tom Mix's new William Fox production, "Oh, You Toney!" which is showing at the Capitol this week is punctuated with thrills and excitement. Tom is entered with his wonder horse Toney for the race, the winner of which gets $25,000. Due to the plotting of Earle Foxe and Dolores Rousseau, villain and assistant respectively, Tom is delayed in arriving until the last minute. It is only because of a number of false starts that he succeeds in arriving at all.

Wearing white riding trousers, high black boots, a white flannel shirt striped with black, and a big white Stetson, Tom tears madly down the street on Toney and is duly registered as an entry by the judges. At the crack of the pistol, the horses go off down the street, around the corner, and the race is on.

Claire Adams, leading lady, stands near the judges' stand, jumping excitedly up and down as the position of the riders is announced to the clamoring crowd. As two of the riders round the corner on the home stretch, the horses galloping furiously, Tom and Toney passed the tape a full length in advance of their nearest rival.

Leaping from Toney while the horse is still galloping at full speed, Tom dashes across the street and seizes Miss Adams in his arms, accepting with flushed face and happy smile the cheers and congratulations of the admiring throng. Five hundred extras are employed in this scene.

Others in the cast are Richard Leno, Charles K. French, Pat Christian, Miles McCarthy, Mathilda Brundage, May Wallace and Evelyn Sherman.

NEW HOBART HENLEY
EFFORT FOR SCREEN
IS REAL WORK OF ART

Hobart Henley has produced another "picture of quality." The man who made "The Flirt" and "The Lady of Quality" has shown another side of his versatile artistry in "The Turmoil." Universal's spectacular portrayal of Booth Tarkington's famous novel, which opened yesterday at the Columbia Theatre, Henley, through the medium of one of the most notable casts assembled for a picture in months, has transcribed the book to the screen with an uncanny knack of "humanizing" moving shadows obtaining art.

"The Turmoil" is different from any play yet screened. It ignores the traditions of the screen; it cannot have been made by any "formula." The books was a graphic, entrancing glimpse into an American family; Tarkington literally bared the souls

CHARLES RAY SAYS
CLOTHES NOT ALWAYS
MAKING OF THE MAN

Charles Ray says that just because he is starring in a screen version of "A Tailor Made Man"—a United Artists Corporation release, now showing at the Playhouse—is no reason for his subscribing to the philosophy that a man's clothes make him. Ray, a United States citizen, is a young man with a fine soul, is an almost sinister figure in the powerful story.

Did Charlie Chaplin become famous because of the exquisite hang of his trousers?

Did Beethoven compose symphonies with the aid of his hair shirt?

Did Babe Ruth bat out home runs last season on the strength of his form-fitting baseball suit?

Wouldn't D. W. Griffith make just as many great photoplays if he directed them in a bathrobe?

Are Francois Villon's poems attributable to his immaculate grooming?

Did clothes have anything to do with Adam achieving immortal fame?

Is Eugene O'Neill a great playwright because of the cut of his overcoats?

Wouldn't Arthur Hackett sing as well in tights as in full evening dress?

Was Abraham Lincoln a fashion plate?

"THE COVERED WAGON" IS SAID TO ECLIPSE ANYTHING IN PICTURES

James Cruze's Paramount production, "The Covered Wagon," eclipses anything in pictures. There never has been such a picture as this one which opened to a capacity audience at the Dominion Theatre last night.

This production is undeniably one of the most magnificent screen presentations ever shown here. There is a long line of excellent players headed by J. Warren Kerrigan and Lois Wilson. The latter will be remembered for her excellent work in "Manila." Mr. Kerrigan as Will Banion, leader of a wagon train, falls in love with Molly Wingate (Lois Wilson) whom he meets when his wagon joins those headed by her father, Jesse Wingate (Charles Ogle). Alan Hale playing the role of Sam Woodhull, a scoundrel, is tentatively engaged to marry Lois; and bitter rivalry arises between him and Banion.

Throughout the story, Woodhull is set on "getting" Banion. After a series of thrilling events he encounters Banion in California where the latter has made a fortune in the gold fields. Woodhull is about to kill him from ambush when Jackson, an old scout, sees Woodhull and kills him. Banion is informed that he has been cleared of certain charges, made against him by Woodhull and that Molly is waiting for him in her frontier home in Oregon. The picture closes with the reunion at the wagon homestead.

The work of Mr. Kerrigan is most commendable. Miss Wilson proved unusually charming. The production is as magnificent as it is colossal.

DE MILLE'S GREAT
DRAMATIC SPECTACLE
SHOWING NEXT WEEK

The event of the coming week in local playhouses will be the presentation at the Coliseum Theatre of Cecil B. De Mille's fine dramatic spectacle, "The Ten Commandments," which will be shown for the first time in this city. The picture will be presented twice daily, at 2:30 and 8:30 o'clock during the engagement here, and the showings will be accompanied by the performance of Doctor Hugo Rosenfeld's special score by a touring orchestra of twenty men. All seats are reserved, and tickets for all performances are on sale at the box office.

ROMANCE TRACED
IN FILM DEPICTING
SIEGE OF LADYSMITH

Love, war and romance is embodied in Samuelson's spectacular film, "The Hero of Ladysmith," now showing at the Columbia Theatre.

It gives the romance of the little English girl, Blackie, and Corporal Waverley, the man who saved Ladysmith, at Magersfontein and Stormberg, the onslaughts of the Afrikaners, the isolation of Mafeking and Ladysmith, the man who saved Ladysmith, and the indomitable British spirit sweeping all before it. The cast includes Owen Nares and Lillian Hall-Davis.

An affectionate Irishman once enlisted in the 75th Regiment, in order to be near his brother, who was a corporal in the 76th.

SHRINE BAND WILL PRESENT CONCERT
AT ROYAL VICTORIA

Gizeh Temple Musicians Will Display Artistry on Nov. 26

The Gizeh Temple Shrine Band will play for a Victoria audience on Wednesday night, November 26, at the Royal Victoria Theatre, this being the first complete evening's entertainment which this brilliant organization of Victoria talent has presented in this city.

The entertainment will celebrate the commencement of the fourth year of the band, which was organized in November, 1921, under the direction of Bandmaster Albert Rumsby.

The personnel of the Shrine Band includes many of the best known citizens of Victoria, and the brilliant artistry of many of the instrumentalists will surprise and delight the audience.

Since the inception of the band was entrusted to Bandmaster James Miller, two years ago, the Shrine Band has grown in strength until to-day it numbers thirty-two instrumentalists and is remarkably well balanced, the reed section being credited by musical experts with equality with any other band on the Pacific Coast.

In the past two years the Shrine Band has played many out of town engagements, and in Vancouver, Seattle and other centres the announcement that the Gizeh Temple Band of Victoria is to play results in very heavy advance bookings.

DAMROSCH SETS
ORCHESTRA RECORD

Veteran Conductor Enters
Upon His Fortieth Season

New York, Nov. 18.—Walter Damrosch is entering upon his fortieth season as conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra.

Damrosch has conducted 2900 scores with an average of five to a concert. That is a total of 20,000 pieces played under his direction.

Do these sound like dry statistics? If they do, picture to yourself swinging a baton for 24,000 hours.

The New York Symphony was founded by Damrosch's father, Leopold Damrosch, in 1878. It visited Europe in 1920, playing in France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and England. It will go to Cuba next January upon an invitation of the government.

Damrosch in his forty years with the orchestra has travelled 400,000 miles. In that time his organization has played to eight million people.

Seattle, Nov. 18.—Three men held up a district office of the street railway system of Seattle. Fired a shot, seized several money bags containing no money and escaped.

Five thousand dollars in collections from street cars was left in a vault.

The money bags were seized by one of the robbers from a street car used to carry collections to the City Hall. The other two robbers saw him take them and hurried away with him without examining the vault after they had driven two employees from it.

"Better go Home,"
Policeman Said

New York, Nov. 18.—Charlie Mathison, dapper, nervous, popular newspaper editor, has lived in New York most of his life. He knows New York like your nose knows a rose, but he seldom visits Greenwich village.

Last week several ladies from Cincinnati were guests at his home. They wanted to see New York's Bohemia, so Charlie volunteered to act as escort.

Arriving at Washington Square he asked a policeman where to go. The place would be a good one in which to show the out-of-towners a bit of life.

"You'd better go home," the policeman answered. "They rob you in these places. You get a big check and you see nothing but four-flushers."

Still determined to explore the lairs of long-haired men and short-haired women, Mathison approached five other cops.

And they all told him the same thing.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Hazel Nuts

Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate
By Howard R. Garis

Uncle Wiggily hopped into his hollow stump bungalow one day, just as Nurse Jane, Fuzzy Wuzzy was talking on the telephone.

"Oh, my dear Mrs. Bushytail," Uncle Wiggily heard his muskrat lady housekeeper say, "I'm so sorry you haven't any. Well, I'll try Jennie Chipmunk's mother—perhaps she has some."

"What is it that you want and which Mrs. Bushytail hasn't?" asked Uncle Wiggily, curious like but kindly.

"Hazel nuts," answered Nurse Jane. "I'm so hungry for a hazel nut pudding and I thought I'd make one, for I know you like it."

"Indeed I do!" spoke the bunny rabbit. "But are hazel nuts scarce this year?"

"They seem to be," replied Nurse Jane. "I thought sure the squirrel lady would have some, but she says Johnnie and Billie haven't gathered any, though it is time for them."

"Yes, almost past time," said Mr. Longears. "Well, I have nothing special to do to-day, Janie. I'll hop out in the woods and see if I can find some hazel nuts for you, and, at the same time have an adventure for myself."

"Well, don't get into any danger," begged Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "But I would like a hazel nut pudding."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped over the the hazel nuts, when, all of a sudden, a voice cried:

"Well, there ought to be rabbits' ears to nibble in these woods, and bless my eye teeth! If I don't see one rabbit. Well, yes, it's Uncle Wiggily, too! Oh, what good luck!"

"Bad luck for me, I guess," signed the rabbit, and he started to hop away, but he was too late, for out popped the Bob Cat, catching the rabbit by his short, stumpy little tail and holding him tightly.

"Not so fast, Uncle Wiggily! Not so fast!" howled the Bob Cat. "Sit down with me here under this bush and we'll see what is going to happen."

"Uncle Wiggily could guess what was going to happen! His ears were going to be nibbled. But, all of a sudden, before the Bob Cat could open his mouth, a small brown nut dropped from the bush under which he held the rabbit and the Bob Cat on the ear.

"Throwing things at me!" mewled the Bob Cat.

"I'm not throwing at you!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Bing!" down fell another nut, plopping the Bob Cat on the nose.

"Stop it! I tell you!" howled the bad chap.

"I'm not doing anything!" said Uncle Wiggily, wanting to laugh. And then there fell a regular shower of nuts, all of which hit the Bob Cat, but none of which tapped the rabbit, for the Bob Cat had thrust his far back under the bush. "Pitter, pitter," fell the hazel nuts, for it was under a hazel nut bush that the Bob Cat had caught the bunny. These nuts don't grow on trees. "Pitter, pitter," they fell.

And so many of them dropped on the Bob Cat that he was frightened.

"I guess there are a lot of hunters in the woods, shooting hot bullets right in the middle of the sugar bowl. I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Susie's watch."

"Don't trouble yourself!" laughed the bunny, as he stretched up the late hazel nuts and took them to Nurse Jane, who made a fine pudding. And if the clothespin doesn't try to jump over the butter and fall her-flop right in the middle of the sugar bowl, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Susie's watch."

"I wish I had met you five years ago, Chris, when you were a little convent graduate, all in white ruffles!"

"Ah, wouldn't it have been simple!"

"Just to be free to love you—and take you to New York with me!"

"I'm not sure—I think perhaps my knowing what unhappiness is makes me know what happiness might be," Chris mused.

"Well," Alan said finally and definitely, "I'll be back to New York this afternoon."

"I think so," she answered, a little thickly.

She went with him to the train and walked slowly away into the late afternoon heat actually dazed with the agony of emotions that swept over her.

"This will pass," she told herself a hundred times that afternoon. And during the hot, restless night and in the burning hours of the morning she repeated it again and again: "This will pass."

"The very strength of this thing makes me know it is wrong," she decided sternly. But her eyes were blurred and her throat dry, and she gave only a fraction of her attention to whatever she chanced to be doing.

Ethel Moore and she made the long trip to Maine together. They were to have spent one night in New York, but there was a broken spring near Jenkintown, and they returned to Philadelphia and had a cool supper in a large airy bedroom and later slipped in for the last hour of a movie.

"It doesn't matter! We can make New Haven tomorrow night," Ethel said contentedly. "And we won't have to stay at all in New York!"

"Much better!" Christine agreed. The next day while Ethel bought wash gloves and a bathing suit in the big city she slipped into a telephone booth and, with a thundering heart, called Alan's number. To think that it was so easy—that the next sound she heard would be Alan's voice!

"Is Doctor Montague there?"

"Yes, madam. What name, please?"

"The name doesn't matter."

NEW SERIAL STORY

Christine of the Hungry Heart

A Thrilling Love Story by Kathleen Norris

XII—A BUSY WIRE

"What frightened me," Chris began, looking down at the fingers she faced tightly as she talked, "was in beginning to feel that there was nothing else in the world—except this friendship of ours! I play with you. Places and books make me think of you. Every time the mail comes—I hope. I remember things you said—and the tones you said them! Even in church—during the sermon, you know—I'm thinking about you!"

"And do you pray for me, Chris?" Alan asked, touched as she paused.

"Well, there again!" she confessed, with a troubled look. "Even in church, I can't pray any more. I don't want to ask courage to give you up—I can't. There's so little in my life, Alan—and I'm so often unhappy! The minute I begin to pray about my thoughts begin to whirl, and they all go round in circles—and I imagine myself telling you all about it, and that's as far as I get!"

"Then why did you send for me to-day, Chris?" the man asked in a low tone.

"Why, because—because I don't think it should go on, Alan, do you?"

He was silent for a long minute, during which she stared out of the window thoughtfully. Then he gave her a half-smile infinitely grave and touching, and said simply:

"No, I suppose not."

Christine was silent; she felt herself begin to tremble.

"I suppose," added Alan, grimly and quietly, after a pause, "that since our civilization is what it is, and marriage what it is, that you will spend from your twenty-fourth to your sixty-eighth year with that—that—with your husband, and this exquisite thing will have to die out of our lives—that's all. It's the one reality I have these days—I'll have to begin all over again. This is—"

"June. Well, I'm going abroad in January for six months' work there. That'll help. For the rest, I'll simply have to get through it."

The tea room was shaded from the battering sunshine by brown and green awnings, and there were peacocks on the wall paper and peacocks in the chintz hangings, and black-eyed susans in brown bowls on all the tables. The colors and room swam before Christine's suddenly-brimming eyes, and her lips trembled. But she made no protest.

"I wish I had met you five years ago, Chris, when you were a little convent graduate, all in white ruffles!"

"Ah, wouldn't it have been simple!"

"Just to be free to love you—and take you to New York with me!"

"I'm not sure—I think perhaps my knowing what unhappiness is makes me know what happiness might be," Chris mused.

"The name doesn't matter."

"Thank you, madam. Just a moment."

Silence. Then a rushing of blood through her heart, and her senses swimming.

"Doctor Montague will be here in just a moment, madam."

"Oh, thank you!"

Then silence again. Silence. And then—

"What number are you calling, please?"

"Oh, operator—operator!" Christine burst out in an agony. "I had my number. I was waiting!"

"I beg your pardon. What number were you calling?"

"Oh—wait a minute. I'll have to look it up."

She whirled the pages of the book despairingly. Ethel was visible at a counter outside, obviously waiting. Christine got her number, dropped her hickel—waited. A rhythmic clicking began.

"The line is busy, madam. I am returning your money."

"There was another full minute of misery. And then again.

"The line is still busy. I am returning—"

Christie rejoined Ethel. They were to lunch in the city; she would have another chance.

Every man not conspicuously a policeman or a beggar might be seen in the city, and she stood still and stared at him. The big lunch room at the Biltmore was full of potential meetings. And every second that passed without him was a second worse than lost.

"Ethel, I shall have to telephone again."

"Well, I do, too. I've gotten so fat I may have to send new measurements down for my corsets."

In the booth again; the number again. And again every second that passed without him was a second worse than lost.

"Is Dr. Montague there?"

"Yes, madam. What name, please?"

"Say—" she had had time to think this over. "Say Mrs. Knight, please."

"Mrs. Knight. Thank you. Just a moment—"

During the moment—which was a long one—she did not think at all. She breathed, and she did not die—that was all. No thought formed in her mind, she was conscious of neither fear, hope, pain nor joy. She was an atom whirling through space; she was one drop in the torrent that rushes toward the roar and smoke of the water falls.

"Alan!"

"Dr. Montague has gone out, madam. But you will find him at the University Club."

"Oh—thank you." But she was chilled and shamed now. What did she want him for? Had they not parted less than forty-eight hours ago, forever?

Slowly, frowning faintly, she called the club. Was Dr. Montague there? He—wait a minute, perhaps he hadn't gone yet. He was just about to leave for the hospital—he had been there an hour ago—

No. Too bad. He was gone. She could probably get him at the hospital in about fifteen minutes. Any message?

"No, no message." In fifteen minutes Christine and the car and Ethel were rolling through the smothering heat up through the Bronx and the Concourse. Ethel dozed. Christine watched the landscape sliding by the windows apathetically. She felt as if she might die if she went on suffering this way.

More Employed in Canada in Autumn Than in Summer

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Reports from the Employment Service of Canada indicate that at the beginning of October the percentage of unemployment among members of trade unions was 5.9, as against 6.5 per cent at the beginning of September and 7 per cent at the beginning of October last year.

Returns from employers show the trend of employment was upward at the beginning of October, when 771,932 persons were on the payroll as compared with 765,422 in August. The time loss due to industrial disputes was less in October than in September, but greater than in October, 1923. There were in existence at some time during the month six disputes involving 8,636 employees, and the time loss was 141,448 working hours.

WISHES CANADA TO BE INDEPENDENT

Henri Bourassa States His Views in Interview in City of Winnipeg

Says Canada's Old Country Regard to the Position Is Absurd

Winnipeg, Nov. 18.—(Canadian Press)—I would like to see the time for the absolute independence of Canada, but I would work my hardest to see that as an independent country she had the happiest relations with Great Britain and the United States," declared Henri Bourassa of Montreal, editor of Le Devoir, during an interview here last night.

"While I would prefer to see Canada an independent country, I am in no way inclined to be unreasonable, but I do not most assuredly consider that she should be either one thing or the other—either an independent country or a country which has a say, and an equal say, in the various problems which confront the motherland," continued Mr. Bourassa.

"The position Canada stands in with regard to the Old Country is still rather absurd. We came into the war just as if we were an English country. We took the troubles of Great Britain on our shoulders and yet, after all this, our representatives have to take their turn on a panel system and are not allowed an equality of footing with the British politicians."

LOYALISTS FOR CANADA

Mr. Bourassa declared the French-Canadians "are out and out loyalists for Canada and we consider that the only ground on which we can unite permanently is the English-speaking Canadians."

Concluding, Mr. Bourassa advocated the open door policy of immigration for Canada and stressed the fact that unless there was a great deal of give and take on both sides, the East and the West might split at the head of the Great Lakes and two countries be the result.

"I do not say this will take place, but unless the East and the West can smooth out their differences and become convinced that the one does not wish to put it across the other, it will be most difficult to avoid an ultimate split," he said. "If Canada is to remain as one unit the prominent men of both East and West must, indeed, watch their step."

NO PHOTOGRAPHS

When Mr. Bourassa arrived in Winnipeg yesterday to give three addresses touching upon outstanding problems of the Dominion he was welcomed. He steadfastly refused to have his picture taken for publication. "I am particular in what company I am found," he said, "for it would be sad indeed to appear among an assemblage of kings, murderers, duchesses and dancers, such as are daily in the newspapers."

B.C. APPLE CROP BRINGS IN MONEY

Prices Obtained "Fairly Firm," According to Report Published by C.P.R.

Winnipeg, Nov. 18.—(Canadian Press)—Wintery weather conditions throughout the prairie provinces has suspended all farm work and as a result the acreage prepared for the 1925 crop is considerably less than last year, according to the weekly report issued by the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway here to-day. The acreage prepared, the report states, is probably not more than fifty or sixty per cent of the total a year ago.

Despite the setback to fall ploughing the early freeze-up will preserve the soil moisture and the reports say conditions augur well for the Spring.

Reports from British Columbia state the apple crop is all harvested. The crop is a good one and the prices obtained "fairly firm." This will be one of the best seasons financially the farmers have had in recent years. There has been no frost reported and there is ample moisture

FEW BRANCHES OF BANK MADE PROFIT

Only Eleven Out of Seventy-Eight Added Strength to Home Bank

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Only eleven branches out of seventy-eight of the Home Bank made a profit, according to the evidence of Thomas Gibbs, former assistant chief accountant, at the trial of J. F. M. Stewart, former Home Bank director, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Gibbs was asked concerning the annual statement upon which the charges against Stewart were based. He said that in it a great amount which had never been paid was charged as profits.

Portland, Or., Nov. 18.—The Japanese freighter Clyde Maru was forced to burn part of her cargo of lumber, loaded in Portland, in order to furnish steam for her voyage to Yokohama, according to a radio message which reached the Merchants' Exchange here yesterday.
